

Exploring My Culture

A person's culture is what makes them unique or special. Culture can be expressed by clothing, foods, languages, music, symbols, celebrations, and art.

Think about what makes you unique or special. Draw or write your responses to the statements below to share about your own culture. Then, talk with another person or family member about your answers.

1. Special foods that you eat:

2. Games you play:

Example:

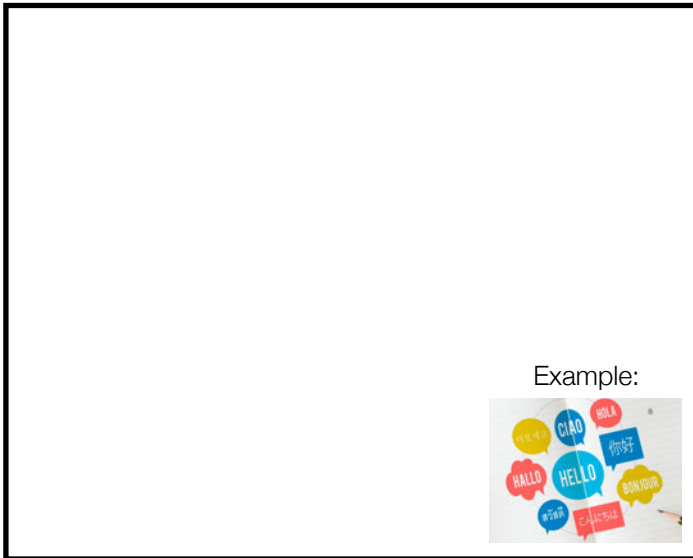

A close-up photograph of a hand using a pizza cutter to slice a pepperoni pizza. The pizza is on a wooden board, and the cutter is in the process of cutting through the crust.

Example:

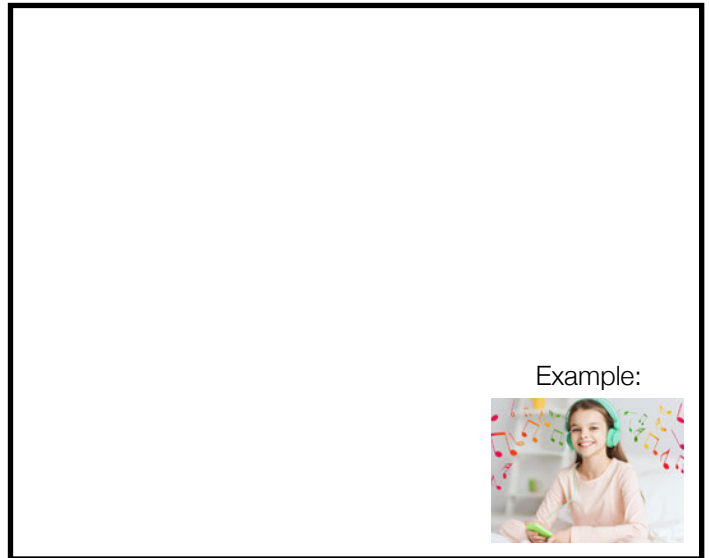

A photograph showing a hand moving a chess piece on a wooden chessboard. The board is set up with pieces, and the hand is in the process of moving a piece from one square to another.
